

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Enhanced transdermal composition comprising a niosome, which retains within its structure a cyclodextrin inclusion complex of a steroid active agent and a vesicle of nonionic surfactant are provided herein, which increases the 5 permeability of dermal tissue to transdermally administered steroid active agents. Methods for producing the enhanced transdermal composition as well as its application are also provided.